

Social and Personal.

MISS JAMES C. SMYTH was hostess of a very charming and complimentary to her sister, Miss Grace Meacham, of New York, who is her house guest for several weeks. The house was prettily decorated in mauve and pink flowers, and a rustic basket of lilacs decorated the center of the table in the dining room. Progressive hearts was played and attractive prizes awarded at each table. Mrs. Smyth's guests included the honorables, Misses Clara, Helen, Ellen, Lona, Miller, Helen, Katherine, Gunn, Augusta, Lona, of New York; Katherine, of Fauquier county; Lucy, of Mable Fletcher, of "The Mable"; Margaret Chevening, Lily, of L. The Bultana Cotillion of the El Bultana was held Tuesday evening at the Fayerweather Gymnasium in Charlottesville. The walls of the gymnasium were covered with white bunting and from each corner of the balcony were swinging ropes of blue bunting, strung with numberless Japanese lanterns, lighted by electricity. The ropes were caught under a huge Japanese parasol in the center of the room, from which swung a large bunch of yellow bananas. From the balconies on all sides were hung many "El Bultana" banners.

The cotillion was led by Francis Cooke, of Roanoke, and Miss Ada LeFevre, of Missouri. Mr. Cooke leads very beautiful and difficult figures with perfect ease.

The most beautiful and effective figure, perhaps, was the Japanese. The girls arraying themselves in Japanese costumes, came marching in with drums beating loudly. They marched around singing "El Bultana" and giving the El Bultana.

The chapters were: Mendames Micalah Woods, William Woods, Tarvin, Booker, Minor, Campbell, Lile, Stanton, Harmon, Alderman, Perkins, Trotter, Thornton, Davis, Misses Dowell.

SALE OF
Keyser's French Lisle Gloves
75c quality, black and color, 59c

Yesterday from 5 to 7 o'clock, in their home, 105 North Fifth Street, Richmond's most exclusive society filled the beautifully decorated parlors during the afternoon, about 150 guests being present.

The mantels were banked in masses of yellow flowers, with garlands of jonquills on the stairway and chandeliers. In the dining-room a French basket of daffodils and pale yellow tulips ornamented the center of the table, and the candles were shaded in yellow and silver.

Mrs. Scott received with her daughter, Mrs. McGilvra, and her house guests—Mrs. Nickels, of Brooklyn; Mrs. Benjamin Palmer, and Mrs. William Plummer, both of Philadelphia; Mrs. Alston Cabell and Miss Belle Perkins presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Jennings C. Wise and Mrs. Cunningham Hall assisted in doing the honors in the library.

Joseph Bryan H. gave a number of his little friends among the small boys of his acquaintance a merry Easter egg hunt on the lawn at Laburnum yesterday afternoon, the lawn with its green velvet covering, its gaily blooming flower beds and shrubs making a charming background for the children, who ran here and there in their search to fill their baskets and show themselves good egg-hunters and finders. The sending up of a big balloon was an event of great interest to the little ones.

Refreshments at small tables on the lawn were much appreciated after the hunt was over. The little host did the honors of the occasion most gracefully, exerting himself most successfully for the enjoyment of his guests.

Little Miss Martha Wilson, wearing a dainty white batiste and lace, and carrying a basket of yellow flowers, was flower girl.

The bride, who entered with her father, was handsomely gowned in white duchess satin, made with a court train and heavily embroidered. Her long tulle veil was caught with real orange blossoms, and she carried the white prayer-book used at her mother's wedding, with markers of lilies of the valley, Easter lilies and palms were the decorations throughout the house for the reception that followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Turner left immediately to spend their honeymoon in the North.

NO WONDER IT COSTS TO RUN GOVERNMENT

Congressman Cullop Digs Down and Uncovers Some Expenses Connected With Senate and House—People's Money Goes Fast.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Washington, D. C., April 1.—Representative Cullop, Democrat of Indiana, likes to dig down and uncover things that the government will not disclose. Recently he has been busy with his pick and muck-rake, and, as a result, is exhibiting some rare specimens.

"Why," said he, at Congress Hall today, "blame me, if the radicals don't break the government if it keeps up this wanton extravagance. Take one item: The Senators are furnished with fine waters by Uncle Sam. Old Potomac water, such as the common herd drinks, is not good enough for the Solons of the Senate. Between July 4 and December 31, 1909, the Senate bought 1,000 gallons of Apollinaris, Lithia, White Rock and Glaciere waters amounting to $222.05, and the august body was not in session two months of the year. Colonel Cullop continued, taking up item after item, until he had quite a list.

"The appropriations this year will exceed those of former years. The party in power, it seems to me, is committed to a policy of extravagance. To me, the waste of public money pervades every department. A general overhauling is much needed. Let us look at some of the items: To maintain the Capitol, the Senate, seventy-three policemen are employed the year round for the Capitol, at an annual cost of $75,000, and the Capitol is not more than twenty, if so many 'The reports of the various clerks show many wonderful things. The congressional staffs that attend the general Congressmen throw money to the birds. One item in the expense report of the funeral train of Senator McPherson, for instance, included portage, $22.50."

"In the hall of the House are two clocks which are wound four times a month for this work a man is paid $35 a month by the year."

"That is pretty dear for time," some one said.

"Yes, but the Senate has to pay more. The two clocks there cost $40 a month. There is a difference in quality. The timepiece in the hall of the Capitol are of a little better quality."

"Here is an interesting entry in the Senate record service, February 15, 1909, taking Senators home from night session, $4.50. That's a dandy. But look at this: March 3, 1909, taxicab service, taking Senators home, five hours, $5 per hour, $25. The next day, taking Senators home from afternoon session, four hours, $6 per hour, $24."

"The further you go the worse it gets. March 3, 1909, for hire of three carriages, for four and a half hours, $10.00. For taking Senators home from night session, 'total $30.' The same night, 'one carriage, $5.'"

"May I ask you, a quantity of law public money is expended for automobiles and carriages to haul Senators to or from sessions of the Senate? In my opinion there is none."

"On the fourth of March, inauguration day, 1909, this item was put down: 'To William F. Downey, four-horse team, used in conveying President Taft to and from the Capitol, $100.'"

"What a contrast! Jefferson, they say, rode on horseback to his inauguration and hitched his beast to a swinging limb until the ceremonies were over. There is no contrast here. Have sold his horse for what Taft paid for his ride."

"Here is another item: 'For building a new center portion of the Capitol, $8,950.25.' That was for the select crowd. Mark, if you will, the following: 'For building and repairing the Capitol, $2,861.23.'"

"Notice the last item. That is an example worthy of you. 'For the cost of furnishing a stand for them to occupy during the inaugural ceremonies, $3,000.'"

"Pretty dear, don't you think? The plutocrats don't pay that much to hear great opera singers."

SOUTH HILL HOTEL

REDUCED TO ASHES

Several of Guests Barely Had Time to Escape From Building.

South Hill, Va., March 31.—This morning at 4 o'clock South Hill Hotel was discovered on fire. The alarm was given, but before help arrived the flames had gotten beyond control and the large building was soon a mass of ashes. Very little of the furnishings were saved, and some of the guests lost all of their belongings. Some of them barely had time to escape with their lives.

The building was owned by Mrs. R. E. Yancey and was valued at $3,000, on which there was only $1,700 insurance. Mrs. S. F. Epes, who managed the hotel, saved some of the furniture, though her loss will be considerable, as she only had $1,000 insurance.

It was by the most heroic work on the part of the volunteer fire-fighters that the handsome residence of Dr. S. S. Northington was saved, and at times it looked as though it would fall a prey to the flames.
